Efficient Software for Plumbers and Electricians

March 26, 2010

Just about anyone who works in the construction industry knows the estimating process can be time consuming. There are a number of steps a contractor has to fulfill prior to starting a job and without an efficient system, one can end up wasting valuable time before getting the ball rolling on a specific project.

Luckily new advancements in technology can help contractors streamline this process and reduce the time they spend taking care of estimates. On Center Software Inc., www.oncenter.com, The Woodlands, Texas, a construction software developer, recently added Vision InfoSoft Corp., www.visioninfosoft.com, Carlsbad, Calif., as one of its newest Electrical and Plumbing Integrated Business Partners.

Through the partnership, Vision InfoSoft will be able to provide customers with direct access to On Center Software's On-Screen Takeoff software through its Electrical/Plumbing Bid Manager. This integration will enable contractors to take care of the estimate process from start to finish, all from a single screen.

According to On Center Software and Vision InfoSoft, electrical and plumbing contractors will be able to significantly reduce time spent on all estimating processes including drafting a bid report, estimating the cost of labor, as well as takeoffs.

By using technology to increase efficiencies, electrical and plumbing contractors can spend less time creating estimates and bidding on a job and more time focusing on getting the project done.
