Benchmark Estimating announces a new custom integration with On Center Software’s estimating software, On-Screen Takeoff. This new software integration allows Benchmark users to import takeoff data from On-Screen Takeoff into Benchmark Estimating software, providing a custom solution for Benchmark and On Center Software users.

This integration provides both Benchmark and On Center Software users with a more specific estimating solution that is designed to reduce takeoff time and increase accuracy. Benchmark Director Rob MacDonald states, “We are very excited about our partnership with On Center Software. Many of our clients have inquired about digital takeoff solutions, and we are certain that this resultant integration will be of great benefit to them.” Benefits to clients will be instantly apparent as they start completing takeoffs with the On-Screen Takeoff/Benchmark Estimating integration. According Angelo Castelli, Director of Business Development for On Center Software, “The combination of the industry leading On-Screen Takeoff and Benchmark Estimating will provide a new level of productivity and efficiency for estimators everywhere. The flexibility of both the Benchmark system and On-Screen Takeoff will be a key advantage for estimators and project managers.”

The Benchmark/On Center Software custom integration is currently in development. Once it is complete, Benchmark will be in the position to offer On-Screen Takeoff as a product for purchase, in addition to the Benchmark Estimating software line. On-Screen Takeoff training will also be available for clients who purchase On Center Software’s takeoff software through Benchmark.
